AMY JOHNSON SLICES HOURS FROM RECORD

Lowest Husband's Time to Cape by 10 Hours 24 Minutes

MOLLISON LEADS IN CONGRATULATIONS

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Nov. 18 (CP).—Amy Johnson, twenty-three-year-old British aviatrix, slept tonight after establishing a record for the flight between England and the Cape of Good Hope in four days six hours and fifty-five minutes, clipping ten hours and twenty-four minutes from the mark established last Spring by her husband, Captain J. A. Mollison.

One of her first acts was to struggle through a cheering crowd of 2,000 persons to the airport of office and telephone her husband, who was waiting in London for news of her arrival.

ALMOST INCREDULOUS

She seemed almost incredulous when she was told she had broken Mollison's record by more than ten hours. "As much as that?" she asked. "I thought it was only about an hour, I'm sorry in a way that I beat him, but it was awfully sporting of him to inspire me to undertake the attempt."

CITY AND GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

planned a ceremony of welcome for the famous flyer when she awakes. LONDON, Nov. 18 (CP).—Peasants from all over the United Kingdom greeted the news that Amy Johnson had been victorious in her attempt to break the record from England to Capetown, and none was more happy and pleased than the former holder of the record and husband of the victor, Captain J. A. Mollison.

The whole of the country had followed Amy's courageous effort step by step and it has been the

LIQUOR BRINGS FATAL RESULT

Consul Found Dead in San Francisco—Another Critically Ill

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18 (AP).—Dr. Jose A. Membruno, Consul-General of Honduras, was found dead, and Adolfo Aleman, Consul-General of Panama, was discovered unconscious in the former's hotel apartment here today. Aleman, reviving, said both had become ill after drinking liquor.

CONDITION CRITICAL

His condition was reported critical. The two had attended a dinner of the San Francisco Consular corps last night, having left the gathering about 1:30 a.m. today. Others who attended the dinner said they saw nothing unusual about them as they departed.

Col. George W. Seaver, assistant Federal prohibition administrator, announced he would start an investigation immediately.

Dr. Membruno was fifty-three years old. He came to San Francisco nearly four years ago. His wife did not come to the United States.

Aleman had been ill recently with influenza. The latter's wife and three children are here. General Aleman has been seriously ill for several weeks.

Fish Block Road Traffic On Mainland

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 18 (CP).—Salmon caving about on flooded roads in the Fraser Valley may impede vehicular traffic shortly. H. C. Pyke, game warden, while driving his auto along the Boose Road, near Cloverdale, through several inches of water on Wednesday, noticed a peculiar movement in the water ahead of him. Before he had proceeded much farther, he found it necessary to stop his car to let a salmon cross the road. On some portions of the road there is water more than a foot deep.

Fish have been noticed swimming in some of the flooded fields in that vicinity. The serpentine river, about a quarter mile from where the salmon halted the game warden, has overflowed. All low-lying land in that area is under water as a result of the heavy rains of the past few days.

Havoc Caused by West Indian Hurricane

THESE pictures, first to reach Canada, show scenes in Camaguey, Cuba, following the devastating hurricane that swept the Province of Camaguey. The coast town of Santa Cruz del Sur was completely destroyed by a tidal wave, and the loss of life is estimated at from 700 to 1,500. Top is a typical scene of destroyed homes. Left shows a ruined house with a tree entirely stripped of foliage by the terrific wind. At the right members of the constabulary search through wreckage for bodies.

FIRE SYSTEM IS IMPROVED

Vast Difference Made by New Mains, City Engineer Reports After Test

Probably the most outstanding improvement in the city's fire-fighting facilities in recent years has been consummated and a test made, Engineer J. M. Preston reported to yesterday's meeting of the public works committee of the City Council.

TESTS OF TESTS

In presenting the result of his tests, Mr. Preston said the first test was made when the high-pressure system was being fed from the Sooke main and all the new connections from the twenty-inch main. The second test was the same as the first with the exception that the Sooke main was out of commission and the city was being fed through the new thirty-inch cross connection from the Goldstream system.

VAST IMPROVEMENT

Under the first test there was ninety-four pounds pressure to the square inch, as against fifty pounds when the test was made in 1928 by fire underwriters. Under the second test the pressure was eighty-four

Train Crew Finds Warm Pieces of Fallen Meteorite

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Nov. 18 (AP).—Fragments of a meteorite that fell in a snow-bank near Melando, Nev., 110 miles south of here, sent up a cloud of steam that attracted the attention of an Oregon Short Line Wells-Robertson branch train crew yesterday morning, they said here today. Members of the crew discovered fifteen fragments of the still warm meteorite. The largest weighed about a pound.

Thermometer Still Plays At Summer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18 (AP).—Still in the grip of a seasonal relapse, the weather continued to run up a fever up and down the Pacific Coast today. San Francisco, with a maximum thermometer reading of 81 degrees, was just one degree cooler than yesterday, which was the warmest November 17 in sixty-two years. Today was the warmest November 18 in sixty-two years.

Los Angeles reported a maximum of 88 degrees. Santa Barbara came through with a maximum for the day of 90.

Spokane reported temperatures thirteen degrees above normal. Seattle was warm at 60 degrees. Portland was the cool spot with a maximum of 56.

COL. ROBINS FOUND SAFE

U.S. Dry Leader, Missing Two Months, Identified—Has Lost Memory

ASHVILLE, N.C., Nov. 18 (AP).—Colonel Raymond Robins, United States dry leader and close friend of President Herbert Hoover, who disappeared September 3, was discovered yesterday in an obscure mountain village of Western North Carolina, a victim of amnesia, it was announced here tonight. Colonel Robins was identified today by his nephew, John Dreier, of New York.

REPORT AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP).—White House aides said late today they had received word that Colonel Raymond Robins, United States prohibition leader and friend of President Herbert Hoover, had been found alive after being missing for several months. Colonel Robins disappeared September 3, presumably while en route to the White House, where he had an appointment with President Hoover.

Col. Robins was identified today by his nephew, John Dreier, of New York.

The Associated Press learned that for the past two months the philanthropist, who was living in the village of Whittier, deep in the mountains, at a boarding house, under the name of "Rogers."

NATION-WIDE SEARCH

His finding, after a nation-wide search, resulted from the work of two agents of the Federal prohibition department, who were in the vicinity of Whittier on other business.

The agents noticed a picture of Robins in a newspaper and suspected that "Rogers" was Robins. The identification was completed today by Dreier.

The finding of Colonel Robins exploded widespread reports that he was the victim of bootleggers or Russian Imperialists.

Urges Joint Management of C.N. and C.P.R. for Period of Fifteen Years

Senator Dandurand Suggests Beatty Plan as Cure for Economic Ills

IMMEDIATE STEPS FOR CO-OPERATION ASKED

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP).—The urging of Senator Raul Dandurand that the Beatty plan for a joint management of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways would be a "sure cure" for the economic ills sought to be remedied by implementation of the Duff Commission report, was the feature of today's sessions of the Senate railway committee. Discussing the matter outside the committee, Senator Dandurand said he was speaking only for himself when he made the suggestion.

"We are not holding any caucuses on this subject," he said. "I based my contention on the resolution unanimously adopted by the Senate in 1925."

"THE MAINLY THING"

Senator Dandurand urged that the committee "do the mainly thing" and place the two railways under a joint management as suggested by President Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific, address the committee yesterday. He suggested the union be made for a period of fifteen years.

He felt it was the opinion of the Royal Commission that such should be done, but that the commission hesitated to incorporate the recommendation in its findings because of the belief that such a move would not meet with the approval of public opinion.

"The Senate should be bolder," he said, "and do what the commission hesitated to do."

FAVORS CO-OPERATION

Another interesting suggestion came from Hon. J. E. B. Casgrain, who urged action be taken at once to form a body of representatives of the two railroads to formulate plans of co-operation along the lines laid down in the bill.

More Than Quarter of U.S. Exports Affected by New Agreements

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP).—Using 1931 as a measuring stick, 29 per cent of United States' exports to the United Kingdom will be affected by the Ottawa trade agreements as shown by Department of Commerce figuring. Value of the exports hit will be $131,000,000, but the extent of effect is a matter that Treasury experts who have studied the Empire trade preferences refuse to estimate. Time alone will tell.

The preferences are already in effect now on canned fruits, fresh fruits, mostly apples, citrus fruits, pears and wheat, dried fruits, mainly raisins, prunes, evaporated milk, lumber, leather, barley and many other products.

See Little Hope for Waterway Treaty at Session of Congress

Arguments of One Side Only, However, So Far Heard by Committee of Senate—Considered Dependent on Roosevelt Attitude

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (CP).—The immediate destiny of the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty was tonight obscure. At the conclusion of testimony against the treaty before a committee of the United States Senate today, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, strong proponent of the St. Lawrence project and incidentally a man who helped to get Roosevelt's nomination at Chicago, told the Canadian Press an attempt would be made to push the treaty through at the "lame duck" session of Congress, beginning December 5 and closing March 4, when the Hoover administration, which negotiated the instrument, goes out of office. In informed circles in Washington there is almost no hope the treaty will be ratified by the seventy-second Congress.

ONLY ONE SIDE

It is admitted, however, the situation may appear darker than it really is at the moment because opponents of the instrument, with the exception of Chicago interests, have only concluded presentation of their case, whereas supporters, it is said, with figures which will refute testimony given during the past few days, have not yet set forth their position.

According to the informed observers, the entire future of the treaty depends upon the Roosevelt attitude, which is so far unexplained.

SUBSIDIES MUST STOP

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (AP).—The New England Economic Conference was told today by J. J. Peley, president of the New Haven Railroad, that the United States "cannot continue to port in hundreds of millions of dollars each year to subsidize highways, water and air transportation to compete with the railroad. Subsidized transportation must be brought to an end for all time."

Of the proposed St. Lawrence waterway, he said: "It would be cheaper by far for the Government to pay the entire cost of carrying the freight to the seaboard, rather than to spend $26,000,000 each year in attempting to bring the seaboard to the freight."

BIG DROP IN POUND STERLING PREDICTED BY LONDON PAPERS

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP).—Financial columns in London newspapers indicate a widespread feeling among British financial observers that the pound sterling may drop to a new low level.

If Britain is refused an extension of the war debt moratorium, the Treasury will be called on to pay a large sum in dollars, which has not been contemplated in the budget. The purchase of so many dollars, commentators say, is likely to depress sterling.

The sterling fall in the last two days is attributed by the newspapers to nervousness regarding this situation.

TO INVESTIGATE LABOR CONDITIONS

Minister Promises Probe by Tariff Commission Into Wages Paid in Textile Industry

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP).—Labor conditions in the Canadian textile industry will be investigated by the Tariff Commission, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, announced in the House of Commons today. Tariff changes resulting from the Anglo-Canadian Trade Treaty were under a sustained attack from Liberals and Progressives. Tariff protection for the textile industry should be made conditions on a general house cleaning in regard to labor conditions, said the two Laborites. They reminded Stevens that they supported a similar proposal, aimed at the coal and steel industry, when in Opposition three years ago.

LOCAL STORE IS ROBBED BY ARMED BANDIT

Mrs. A. Coopman, 247 Cook Street, Threatened With Gun—Thief Takes $25

WOMAN IS WARNED WITH PRINTED NOTE

Victoria's "note bandit" early last night held up a confectionery store operated by Mrs. A. Coopman at 247 Cook Street, and escaped with $25 in $1 bills.

The man used the same tactics as were employed in robbing Mercer's Handy Shop, 1134 Hillside Avenue, two weeks ago, when the cash register was robbed of $60.

Last night's hold-up took place about 6:30 o'clock, after Mr. Coopman had left the store to go to a house across the street.

The bandit entered the store and stood in front of the counter, his face hidden behind a red cloth pulled up over his chin, mouth and nose.

REVOLVER USED

When Mrs. Coopman responded to the signal given when the door was opened, she was covered by the bandit's gun. The man then pushed across the counter a square piece of cardboard on which was printed in pencil, "Hand me your money. Don't speak."

Mrs. Coopman went to the cash register and began to take some bills from the drawer. When she had a bundle of them in her hand, the bandit said "That's enough" and snatched them out of her hand and fled.

SIMILAR TACTICS

Police made a search of the nearby streets and Beacon Hill Park, but failed to locate the man. From the description given by Mrs. Coopman, together with the tactics used and the printing on the card, police believe the bandit to be the same who held up Mercer's Handy Shop.

Half an hour after last night's hold-up, police received a call that there was a suspicious looking man outside Adam's Grocery Store, at the corner of Cook and Fort Streets, about a mile from Mrs. Coopman's store, which is situated near May Street.

The description of this man answered to some degree the description of the man who held up Mercer's Handy Shop and Mrs. Coopman's store. When police arrived,

FACES TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Japanese Accused of Killing Wealthy Chinese Merchant at Kelowna

KELOWNA, Nov. 18 (CP).—Hiroshi Hamasaki, a Japanese, charged with the murder of Wong Bat, a wealthy Chinese merchant found dead in his garden here on November 2, was committed for trial at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing here today. According to evidence at the hearing, Wong had left his home on the evening of November 1 and visited several stores run by Chinese acquaintances. He collected $248 from one place and additional money from Yick Lee, Chinese druggist and merchant. Yick stated that amongst the money he paid Wong was a torn Bank of Montreal $10 bill. Wong failed to return home that night and at 6:30 the next morning his body was seen lying face downwards on the grass in front of his home by Mrs. Wong.

ACCUSED WAS SEARCHED

Constable Smyth, of the Provincial Police, who searched Hamasaki after the accused was turned over to him by Kelowna police, said the Japanese had a roll of bills amounting to $316 tied around his ankle. A stick thirty-six inches was also found in the accused's possession, according to police.

Other witnesses declared that Hamasaki had begged meals at several Chinese restaurants because he was "broke." Included in the money found on Hamasaki was a torn $10 Bank of Montreal bill which Yick Lee declared was the one he had given to Wong Bat on the night he was last seen alive.

Tariff Items Approved in Committee

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP).—Another landmark in the slow progress of the new trade treaty between this country and the United Kingdom was passed tonight when the House of Commons approved the last of the tariff changes involved in the treaty in committee of the whole.

The treaty is still far from being finally ratified, however. There are still thirteen articles, many of them contentious, to pass the committee. The tariff changes, all designed to give Empire goods a larger preference in the Canadian market, are 239 in number.

WATER MAIN IS LEAKING

Six Hundred Joints in Original Flow Line in Need of Repairs

Six hundred joints in the Goldstream waterworks main are in need of repair and a programme of work to rectify the leaks was proposed by Alderman T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the fire wardens, at yesterday's meeting of the public works committee of the City Council. The Goldstream system, due to the high elevation of its lakes, is able to provide fifteen pounds higher pressure than the Sooke main since the new cross-connection was put in.

Fire underwriters said they would be satisfied if this main were repaired, but otherwise would demand that the pumps be reconditioned.

COST OF PUMPS
Alderman Hawkins stated the cost of repairing the pumps amounted to $1,500. In the past year the leaks had been repaired at the rate of fifty a year.

He proposed that the entire programme be carried out by applying the money for pump repairs to this work. To this could be added the annual appropriation for joint repairs, thus having much smaller sum than originally estimated to carry on the work.

Entire cost of repairs would amount to $20,000, he said. The question of carrying out the work was referred to the council meeting, Monday night, for debate.

All-Metal Plane Ship of Future

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Doom of wood in airplane construction was predicted today by Al Williams, former United States Navy racing pilot, who said the plane of the future will be an "all-metal, all-welded ship."

"Wooden ships are doomed," he declared, "and the time is not far off when the International Association of Aeronautics will be ships that are joined together with screws, rivets and pins."

URGES JOINT MANAGEMENT OF C.N.R. AND C.P.R. FOR 15 YEARS

"We are losing $1,000,000 a week," he declared, "and this bill may not be enacted until next spring. He would propose that this body, appointed jointly by the two roads, would act without delay, and in the event of dispute appeal to the chairman of the board of railway commissioners."

Senator Meighen suggested that, in the event of the death in office of the chairman of the proposed board of trustees of the Canadian National Railways, the trustee longest in office, or the one appointed for the longer period, shall automatically become chairman to act until a permanent successor is chosen. This point was made clear in the redrafted form of the Senate bill.

In connection with the clause providing that when a new trustee is appointed he will be selected from a panel of eight names drawn up by the existing trustees, Senator Griesbach questioned whether or not the power was being given.

"These great properties will be placed in the hands of a trustee who will have the power practically to name their own successors," he said.

MAY NOT BE REMOVED
Redrafting of the bill guarantees that the trustees may not be removed as the result of ascent to power had been drawn up to meet the situation.

Senator McRae expressed the opinion that the trustees should not be permitted to hold directorships in other companies.

"Would it be sufficient to place the restriction on the chairman alone?" asked Senator Meighen.

"I think it would," Senator McRae replied.

It would be difficult to get good men if they were forced to give up all business connections, Senator McRae thought. The matter will be given further consideration.

The committee concluded study of the redrafted bill this afternoon and at the next sitting, Thursday, November 24, will commence dealing with the act clause by clause.

pounds, as compared with fifty pounds previously, and under the third test the pressure was sixty-two pounds, as against fifty pounds previously.

The engineer said the city's fire system was now vastly different from what it was before. Previously, if the Sooke main had given out, the city might have been forced to pump salt and sewage-polluted water into the high-pressure system, which also is used for domestic purposes. Now a running pressure of seventy-eight pounds fed from Goldstream was possible, giving eight effective fire streams.

Premier Tolmie was accorded a warm welcome from those present. He was officially welcomed by C. H. MacMillan, president of the club, who expressed the unfailing loyalty of the McBride Club in the Premier and his Government.

CONGRATULATES CLUB
The Premier, in reply, congratulated the organization and thanked its members for their loyalty. He recalled memories of Sir Richard McBride, after whom the club was named.

He was a man whose loyalty was never questioned. Following his address, every person present shook hands with the Premier.

President MacMillan then introduced Lady McBride, who responded to the Premier in a charming manner. She also was introduced to many of the members present.

Following the welcoming addresses, dancing was held, and cards were played in an adjoining room.

M.C.C. ELEVEN UNIMPRESSIVE

English Cricketers Make Poor Showing Against Aussies at Melbourne

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 18 (CP).—Playing against an All-Australian cricket eleven, the touring team, M.C.C., was unimpressive, having scored only 238 runs for eight wickets.

The Marylebone men were the losers in a long, unenterprising innings lasting nearly four hours, in which they got 87, including three fours, Wyatt, with 29, and England, with 38, were still in when play was closed for the day.

The weather was fine and 23,000 spectators thronged the stands. The pitch was good.

Auto Rolled on Months-Old Baby

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18 (AP).—An eighteen-month-old baby crawled under a jacked-up rear wheel of his father's automobile here last night and was seriously injured as the machine rolled backward.

JOHNSON SLICES HOURS FROM RECORD

principal topic of conversation during the past four days.

"How did she keep awake?" was the universal question.

HUSBAND DELIGHTED
Captain Mollison's calm reticence, which he has always shown after his own great accomplishments, was entirely broken down today. His wife's success had pleased him more than any of his own. At the final word came in at her arrival at the cape he dashed to a telephone and booked a call to the distant South African port to offer his own personal greetings.

Amongst the numerous expressions of congratulatory greetings was the announcement in Australia that A. E. Whitehead, prominent manufacturer, had made a gift to the aviator of £1,000. Mr. Whitehead made a similar gift to Captain Mollison on the occasion of his breaking the England-Australia record and to Don Bradman, celebrated batsman, when he attained the world's cricket batting record.

MILITIA MAY BE HEAVILY REDUCED

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 (AP).—Drastic curtailment of the nonpermanent active militia organization of Canada is under contemplation by the Government, according to a new story published in The Ottawa Journal today. The step is to be taken both for reasons of economy and as a move towards general disarmament.

"Cut of the Department of National Defence is now the heaviest of all departments, and in looking around for channels for further economies, it is understood the Government has concluded in respect to the military organization of the country much can be saved without any injurious effects," the report states.

Von Papen's Life Was Threatened

To Confer With Von Hindenburg On Leadership

BERLIN, Nov. 18 (AP).—The political spotlight shifted once again today to Adolf Hitler, leader of the National Socialist party, who came to Berlin by airplane for a conference with President Paul von Hindenburg tomorrow, at which he will set forth the course he purposes to follow in dealing with Germany's Cabinet problem.

The Nazi leader kept his own counsel. But all commentators were agreed Hitler would do his utmost to overcome the President's personal misgivings about him.

In 1929, Miss Burton, also of the Jubilee Hospital, ranked highest in the province in the September test, securing 84 per cent.

In 1929, Miss Burton, also of the Jubilee Hospital, led the field with 84 per cent. This was followed by Miss Rae ranking highest among those taking examinations with 82 1-3 per cent. Miss Joyce Collett, another Jubilee Hospital graduate, was first in the examinations last March with 84 per cent.

REPORTS FOR MONTH
The reports for the month of October submitted to the board showed a total of 3,999 days' stay on the part of patients, and the average number of patients per diem was 193. The per capita cost was figured at $2.83 and the per capita cost including X-ray and laboratory work was $3.23. Donations received were acknowledged.

The Christmas arrangements this year will be the same as last year and have been left in the hands of the supervisor to work out the details.

Sisterhood Dance Wins All Praise

In the customary, attractive setting, created by an able decorating committee, using flags and greenery, last evening held its third annual dance at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club. About 150 guests enjoyed the occasion thoroughly, the success of the event practically assuring its repetition next year.

Guests on arriving were welcomed by a reception committee comprising Mrs. E. W. White, the president, and the general convenor, Mrs. F. H. O'Neil, and other officers present were the vice-president, Mrs. F. Dumbarton; Mrs. V. L. Denton (treasurer); Mrs. Walter Laing and Mrs. Albert Sullivan (secretaries); and Mrs. W. E. Stanland. At the receipt of custom were Messrs. J. D. Christie and E. W. White, and Mrs. Walter Laing convened the arrangements for bridge, which provided pleasant diversion for the non-dancers.

The musical programme was bright and up-to-date, being provided by a four-piece orchestra. The upper arrangements were excellently handled also, after the refreshments, dancers returned to the ballroom to continue dancing until 1 o'clock.

ANCIENT RACE TO WORSHIP SOON IN ENGLISH SPEECH

Some hundred or more members of the Armenian race participated in a service in the Church of the Holy Trinity, Toronto, in which was used the language of an ancient race, which is honored throughout Christendom because of the tragic history of the people and the church. The worshippers followed the liturgy of the Armenian Apostolic Holy Church, the national church of a race which claims to be the first among the Gentile nations to embrace Christianity.

The "old order changeth," however, and it is expected that before very long the services will be necessarily, be conducted in the English language for the benefit of the children of the younger members born and schooled in this country.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—Peter Nelson, sixty, residing in a houseboat at the foot of Wellington Avenue in Burnaby, was mysteriously shot in the neck while reading a newspaper by the window of his home early tonight. How Young She Looks
There's a Sparkle to the Eye Which Health Alone Can Give

It is a real problem these days to retain youth and beauty in face of the worries which are so many.
For worry brings irritability and sleeplessness and headaches. Care lines and wrinkles show themselves. You almost dread to look into the mirror.

And yet there is a way to overcome the nervous condition in which you find yourself. Many have proven the value of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of restoring health and beauty and youthful appearance.

They have found that under this treatment they are soon resting and sleeping well, appetite and digestion improve, headaches disappear, dark clouds of depressed feelings roll away and new hope and courage banish the worries that were breaking down the nervous system.

It is certainly worth while to give Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a trial for the reason that it supplies the elements from which nature rebuilds the run down body and nervous system.

Almost everywhere you meet other women who hear some remarks about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and the benefits obtained by its use. It is only reasonable to expect that it will benefit you just as it has so many thousands of others.

Government Sets Fixed Scale for Municipal Relief

Municipalities Reject Offer to Run Civic Relief Affairs Themselves at Known Cost to Government—Cabinet Committee Says New Plan Will Be Applied December 1

IN an all-day session yesterday, the Government made clear its intention to limit its costs on municipal relief to $100,000 monthly, until March next. This course was opposed by the Union of B.C. Municipalities' executive, but the Government stood firm, and said the new scale would go into effect on December 1. The Government first invited the Union to take charge of all municipal relief, which it declined to consider. The Province then announced a maximum fixed scale of relief it would recognize, as its last word on the subject.

The executive of the union turned out in force and presented a memorial virtually rejecting both offers, asking reconsideration of the whole question. The union said its action was based on its belief that a uniform scale would not work, and that the level of the maximum schedule proposed was too low. Hon. J. W. Jones gave the Government's reply last evening.

SCALE DECIDED ON

The unit cost proposed by the Government, and now to be applied, allows up to $9 monthly for the first adult in a family, $3.50 for the second and $2.50 for each child under twenty-one years of age, for food allowances. Clothing, shelter and fuel, in addition, can be given up to 40 per cent of the food cost per family.

"Our decision is absolutely final, and the unit scale goes into operation on December 1," Hon. J. W. Jones stated last evening, after receiving the rejection of the Government's proposals by the executive of the union.

"This is the same scale as we have already adopted in the unorganized territories, and it is our last word on the subject. There will be no reconsideration so far as the Government is concerned," Mr. Jones declared.

OFFERED SELF-CONTROL

The proposal of the Government, that the union allocate the distribution of the money, at the rate of $300,000 per month, one-third to be paid by the Province, was made because the Province believes the union is in closer touch with the individual municipalities and their needs, Mr. Jones explained.

The proposed provincial contribution, at $100,000 per month to March next, was higher by 25 per cent than the Government finds its actual costs to be in September and October. British Columbia contributions to municipal relief in these months ran to $76,000 for September, and October is expected to be about the same figure, Mr. Jones said.

As both the allocation and the unit cost offers have been made, and in part at least, rejected, the Government will now proceed to put into effect the plan it favors itself, the unit cost scheme. These costs, it was explained, are maximum, and unless occasion demands, the full allowance need not be paid.

GOVERNMENT FIRM

There is nothing in the proposal to stop municipalities asking for a work return for direct relief, only where this is done the relief must be paid.

LAST STAGE OF TRIAL REACHED

Judge Refuses Adjournment of Extradition Hearing— Counsel to Proceed

The last stage of the battle being waged by Ralph W. Walters, former financier, against his return to the United States to stand trial in Washington State on charge of grand larceny involving false pretences, was reached here yesterday when Judge Peter B. Lampman, sitting as an extradition commissioner, refused to grant a further adjournment and set Monday next to hear argument by counsel.

When the hearing was called in the County Court room yesterday morning, Stuart Henderson, counsel for Mr. Walters, requested an adjournment until Monday in order to file depositions of defence witnesses still in the State of Washington. C. L. Harrison, counsel for the State, opposed the application for an adjournment on the ground that the depositions could have been in court long before this date.

TO HEAR COUNSEL

Judge Lampman referred to the large number of adjournments already granted to the defendant, and he said he could not see there was any real reason why the hearing should be further prolonged. He ordered counsel to proceed with argument, but Mr. Henderson said he was not in a position to go ahead, and the judge set Monday morning, at 10:30 o'clock, to complete the proceedings.

Extradition of Ralph W. Walters and his father, Charles E. Walters, former head of the $3,000,000 bank syndicate operating in the State of Washington up to the end of 1929, was started here early in September. Charles E. Walters was ordered returned to the United States. He sought his freedom on habeas corpus and lost, and on Thursday was taken to Okalla prison to await his transfer to the American authorities.

CHILDREN ENJOY RED CROSS WORK

Junior Branch Elect Own Officers, Arrange Own Programmes and Decide Activities

Those in close touch with the Junior Red Cross work say that it is so successful among the children because it is not something imposed upon them like their ordinary school work, but is a voluntary undertaking of their own.

They manage it themselves, electing their own officers, arranging their own programmes and deciding what activities they will undertake. These may include improvements in the school equipment, particularly along the lines of sanitation and cleanliness. Many branches have installed individual drinking cups, have arranged for box school lunches, have kept the school grounds tidy, planted gardens, and so on.

FRANCHISE RAISE FUNDS

Nearly all branches raise funds by giving concerts or entertainments and send the proceeds, as a contribution to the Crippled Children's Fund. In the last few years almost a hundred crippled or disabled children in this province, whose parents could not provide treatment for them, have been cared for through this fund.

"One of the most important features of our Junior work," said Miss White, the provincial secretary, "is our monthly magazine, 'The Canadian Red Cross Junior.' It has a paid circulation throughout Canada of nearly 30,000 copies a month and is said by many literary critics to be the best children's publication on the continent. Certainly it is a most interesting magazine. I know that."

Studying Rarest of Metals

DR. Aristide von Grosse, of the University of Chicago chemistry department, with the apparatus used to measure the decomposition of the world's rarest metal, photo-actinium, by which the age of the earth is calculated at two and one-half billion years. The total amount of this metal available in the whole world is equivalent to one one-thousandth of an ounce.

our members like it very much, and so do many adults who read it regularly.

MONEY NEEDED

"Naturally the work of organizing Junior Red Cross cannot be done without expense, all of which is borne by the Senior Red Cross. We figure that each Junior member costs us at least fifty cents a year, and the money must come from the ordinary revenues of the society. The benefits the Juniors gain from their membership cannot be calculated in dollars and cents, but there can be no doubt that they outvalue many times over the small expense. If people only knew how beneficial and constructive this form of Red Cross work is, they would be as enthusiastic about it as the Juniors are and would give it their generous support."

Asked if contributions were made for this particular part of the work of the Red Cross in British Columbia, Miss White said that donations for the Junior Red Cross received at the Red Cross office, Belmont House, were invariably earmarked for this activity.

CALLING IT "SIRLOIN" STEAK

For once it is the duty of this column not to point out color and romance behind a prosaic-sounding term, but to deny romance and support straight etymology—in the story of the word "sirloin."

A reader sends us the story, first told when Oliver Cromwell was Lord Protector of England, that the sirloin of beef received its name when a jocosely-minded king took it into his head to knight a cut of meat. The story has had some very auspicious backing in its time, but is discredited by today's etymologists. According to authoritative opinion, the name is misapplied, being properly "sirloin," from its true source, the French sur le loin, "above the loin," from "longe"—"above the loin."

SHOWS SILVER HUE IN CLOUD

Mrs. Nellie McClung Addresses Meeting at Metropolitan Church

"There are two schools of thought today. One believes in roads and the other believes in walls. Civilization has tried walls for a long time, fortifications, international barriers, tariffs for the protection and safety of mankind. Why not roads for a change?" said Mrs. Nellie McClung, well-known Canadian author and lecturer, in the address which she gave at the Metropolitan Church last evening.

"The Silver Lining" was the subject of Mrs. McClung's thoughtful and optimistic message. In opening her address, she acknowledged the source of her title, originating in Milton's oft-quoted line that "Every Cloud Has a Silver Lining." This she amplified by remarking that everything in life had an ebb and flow; in other words, nothing in life was wholly evil. Numerous examples of this axiom were cited in preface to her assurance that it was even quite possible for people to develop "a silver lining attitude of mind." But in order to do so one had to develop what radio experts characterized as "selectivity," the power to shape the trend of one's thought and not to dwell on the sadness and mistakes of life.

MAN'S DEPRESSION

Referring to the depression, Mrs. McClung pointed out that this was not God's doing. God had not withheld the fruits of the earth, as one knew by the figures showing the amount of wheat in the granaries.

There were other evidences of "no depression." The people of the United States last year spent more on motor cars than they did for food, Kathleen Norris said, in one of her recent articles. Also more was spent for chewing gum than for misspells, and more on advertising bread than on books. Civilization on this continent had developed with remarkable rapidity, with corresponding advancement in the need of a bounty for the destruction of panthers on Vancouver Island was raised at the meeting of the Real Estate Board yesterday by F. B. Pemberton, who pointed out that the destruction of sheep by panthers was such that unless something were done in killing panthers, owners of sheep would have to go out of the business. He had, himself, counted nine dead sheep one morning as a result of the depredations of panthers.

Mr. Pemberton felt that it might not be necessary to have the bounty high as it had formerly been. He was sure that capable hunters would carry on the work with the bounty fixed at say $12.50 or $15 a head.

While members of the board did not like to ask the Government at this time to expend money, it was pointed out by some that the expenditure of a little money would have the effect of making a saving for the province. It was decided to bring the matter up at the next meeting of the board.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THREE STAGES OF HEART DISEASE

You may wonder at times why so many men and women, apparently in good health, die suddenly of heart disease. You naturally feel that there should be some method by which these individuals should know the exact condition of their heart, so that these sudden deaths would not occur.

Your doctor will tell you that there are at least three stages in heart disease:

(1) Heart disease with really no symptoms, the patient doesn't get out of breath too easily, no swollen feet. This is called a compensated heart, that is, one that compensates or has sufficient muscular power in itself to overcome any leakage or slight weakness.

The treatment of these cases is very simple. All that is necessary is to avoid heavy exertion, eat light digestible foods, avoid constipation, the use of warm baths to relax the entire nervous and muscular system, and to have rests once or twice a day.

In these cases rest is the biggest factor. There should be regular periods for rest daily, lying down, completely relaxed. The diet should be light, as too much food puts a strain on the heart and the blood vessels. In order that the blood vessels be kept as resilient—elastic—as possible, the salt intake should be cut down to the very lowest amount, and fluids—tea, coffee, water or other fluids—also greatly reduced in amount. No stimulants of any kind should be taken, and the usual remedy—digitalis—faithfully used according to the doctor's directions.

(2) Heart disease that is not compensated, that is, that requires help in order to do its work completely. In these cases there is shortness of breath on exertion, and there may be a very slight swelling about the ankles.

This description of the three types or stages of heart disease, with the proper treatment for each stage, are from the rules suggested by Dr. D. Stein, Philadelphia.

There is no question but that were these simple rules carefully followed, the number of sudden deaths from heart disease would be greatly reduced.

a sense of luxuries which must be enjoyed.

"We can all see," said the speaker, "that the day of reckoning was bound to come sooner or later. In their hearts most people were convinced of the existence of the silver lining."

SHARBY THINKING

The depression had also exposed a lot of shabby thinking. An example was cited: During the famine in China this country undertook to ship wheat there. One citizen made the objection that this should not be done because the Chinese might some day themselves become producers of wheat and competitors of Canada. This, Mrs. McClung thought, was a very narrow and unfair way of looking at the matter. "We know now that there is no prosperity in any part of the world without prosperity among our neighbors," she noted, in approaching her conclusion.

Rev. E. F. Church presided and accorded the speaker warm thanks.

WOMEN ARE WONDERFUL

Mrs. W. J. Pendray, eighty-two years of age, mother of many children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, a splendid type of the woman of the "old school," no doubt has been reading about the achievements of a woman of the modern school. Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison has taken to the air like a bird and performed feats that would test the endurance of any fowl of the air, and the skill and endurance combined of the most experienced and accomplished aviator. Thus the world is given to understand that woman has broken through the bounds of her old environment, that there are no longer any restrictions upon her kingdom, and that in any sphere she is free and equal to any mere modern man.

And yet there may be old-fashioned people, and possibly some new-fashioned people, who will question whether the sensational performances of Mrs. Mollison are likely to prove of greater value to the world than the unheralded and unsung accomplishments of Mrs. Pendray, or whether Mrs. Mollison, sleeping tonight on her laurels, is likely to experience more real satisfaction from the plaudits of the multitude when she appears before the public in the morning, than Mrs. Pendray, as she sits by the fire in the evening surrounded by her dutiful children, and possibly with a loved great-grandchild resting upon her motherly lap.

Of course, all this is but speculation, but it is at least an interesting speculation, and leads to a further question. Woman has been emancipated from old-fashioned restrictions and conventions. She was wrested from mere men the "right to live her own life." The rights her champions have clamored for—on the public platform and in the columns of the newspapers—have been attained. But still the modern woman does not appear to be content with her new and improved position. Her advocates and champions are still upon the platform demanding more. Some of them have gone to Russia and investigated the position of women in that land where the problem of complete human emancipation has been solved. There are no superstitions tolerated in Russia, neither are there any narrow and bigoted conventions respecting the relations between women and men. A female companion may be witness to testify that the simple process of calling has publicly declared her temporary claims upon him. That is a Russian divorce, a simpler and quicker and cheaper decree than ever was dreamt of in Hollywood. Therefore the question is whether woman, after she has gained what appears to be her heart's desire, will find her new position in life more tolerable than her old position.

REAL INTERNATIONAL CRISIS

Payment of reparations having ceased, probably never to be resumed, the time is drawing near for the consideration of war debts. In the matter of war debts the United States is the principal creditor nation.

The present government of the United States has consistently maintained that there is no connection between war debts and reparations. The Government of the United States which will shortly succeed the present Government has indicated that there is no connection between reparations and war debts. But facts are said to be stubborn things, and it is an indubitable fact that there is some connection between reparations and war debts.

The Government of France, in consenting to relieve Germany of the burden of reparations, stipulated that if reparations were to cease war debts must be annulled, as the ability of at least one of the debtor nations to pay war debts depended on the capacity or the willingness of Germany to continue to continue payment of reparations.

The position of Great Britain on the question was not so arbitrary as that of France, but Great Britain intimated that there was at least a moral obligation on the part of the United States to consent to the annulment of war debts if the payment of reparations ceased. As an evidence of good faith Great Britain has established a credit in the United States to meet the next payment of her war debt with interest when that payment becomes due next month. The other debtor nations have made no such provision. They have simply indicated that they will not pay, and that decision brings the issue which involves definite action.

The present position therefore is: If the other debtor nations do not pay, will the United States insist upon payment by Great Britain or will the Government of the United States graciously consent to further consideration of the whole question and place all the debtor nations upon an equal basis?

The Government of the United States has intimated that there may be conditions under which it would consider readjustment, but not complete annulment, of the war debts. The conditions stipulated have a certain relation to tariffs and trade. This is an admission that after all there is a certain relationship between trade and reparations.

The late Imperial Conference involved a recognition of the principle that there is a certain relationship between tariffs and trade.

If the existing depression be due to international embargoes on trade, the United States obviously has been the greatest transgressor against the laws of supply and demand, for she set the example which all the nations with the single exception of Great Britain have followed, and which Great Britain has reluctantly followed. The Imperial Conference was held for the purpose of striking the shackles of the trade of the world. The United States will take part in a conference, to be held at some as yet indefinite period, which will consider the conditions of world trade and what shall be done about it.

Holding of international conferences for the purpose of considering many things is no new thing, but thus far nothing of lasting or even temporary good has resulted from the international conferences. There is a disarmament conference in session at the present time, which hopes to induce the nations to scrap their arms and make an end of all wars. But when the men of nations are in a mood for fighting, they will fight with any kind of weapons ready to their hands or quickly improvise effective implements of warfare. The international disarmament conference probably will accomplish little except generation and release of a cloud of gas.

Intelligent people of the present age probably put as little trust in conferences as the people of another age were enjoined to put in princes. We are not disposed to place much confidence in the World Economic Conference shortly to be convened for the purpose of adjusting the business of the nations (upon paper), for we harbor an old Tory conviction that peace in the world is more likely to be maintained and the business of the world revived by every nation attending strictly to its own business than by every nation in the world muddling and muddling in the business of other nations.

But the matter of reparations and war debts is a different thing altogether. If a bargain can be made which will relieve the nations of the burden of war debts and at the same time stimulate business throughout the world, that will be an accomplishment worth while, and probably the United States will not be the least of the beneficiaries. For if the war debts cannot be cancelled, they certainly will be repudiated by all the nations except the British nation, and that will rankle in the minds of the people of the United States for generations.

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY BUBBLE

Humorists in both Canada and the United States have introduced a note of gaiety into discussion of the St. Lawrence Waterway issue. As the matter is likely to become a serious issue in the immediate future, and probably not in the very remote future, there is no reason why some fun should not be extracted from it. Nothing else is likely to be got out of it.

First, a distinguished representative of the United States proposed as a condition annexed to the construction of the waterway, or rather to the deepening of the waterway, that a large slice of Canadian territory be confiscated and added to the possessions of the United States. Then, as a counter-stroke a public body in the Province of Quebec passed a resolution demanding, or at least suggesting, that all the northern portions of certain states with a historical American background be annexed to Canada.

Neither demand or suggestion is likely to be considered seriously by the governments concerned. For consideration of such issues would involve prolonged debates and possibly bitter controversies. The United States is not even considering relinquishment of territories. It is not at the present time considering additions to its territories, but it has considered territorial additions in the past, and acted upon the matters it considered, and it probably will consider territorial acquisitions in the future when occasions arise, as they are sure to do.

Canada is not so fortunate a position. She has lost territories she believed, rightly or wrongly, to be hers by right. But all those issues are closed, and nobody is anxious to have them reopened. If the St. Lawrence Waterway is to be built, it will not be built in the immediate future, because neither the financial circumstances of Canada or the United States, or the business interests of both, warrant the enormous cost of such construction. The present transportation facilities of both nations are more than sufficient for immediate and remote demands.

It would have been hazardous to predict what would have been done in the case of the great waterway had the times been normal and had the Hoover administration survived the election. But it is not difficult to predict what will become of the waterways issue now that Hoover has been beaten and a Democratic Government will soon be in power. When Hoover was beaten the waterways issue was cast into the mainstream of party politics, and when it emerges (in case it survives), it will still have to encounter the opposition of a powerful body of public opinion in both Canada and the United States, without support of a president with great prestige as an engineer.

It is not so much the being exempt from faults, as the having overcome them, that is an advantage to us—Alexander Pope.

WAR DEBTS

Sir—The world is groaning under a burden that is becoming unbearable. Black poverty, distress, 25,000,000 people of working age out of employment, underconsumption of the adequate supply of food and clothing and most of the world's Governments either in a state of bankruptcy or rapidly heading for that deplorable state because taxation has about reached its limit, and heads of Governments are at their wits' end.

Prices of food are down to the lowest level in modern times. Clothing is cheaper than it has been for many years, yet millions of people are only half fed and half clad. The only substance that has maintained and increased its value is gold, and because it is dear and relatively scarce for the mission it is supposed to perform, nearly all other commodities have become too cheap to afford a living profit or a living wage to the producer.

All debts and interest on debts have become inflated 100 to 200 or more per cent as compared with the products of industry and enterprise. Why this desperate condition of things came about.

Many factors have contributed, including gross extravagance on the part of individuals and governing public bodies, but there is one country whose policy is "statement" are pre-eminently to blame for the present state of affairs and that is the great country lying to the south of our boundary line.

During the Great War, when civilization was fighting for its life against the threat of military despotism attempted by the strongest military power the world had ever known, corporations and the people in the United States made enormous profits by furnishing supplies at extravagant prices.

When the British and Allied powers, exhausted financially in the titanic struggle, applied for assistance to the great profiteering power, they were told that every cent of any loan granted must be spent in the United States and thus the so-called war debts were contracted.

Prostrate Europe, bleeding from every pore, was given credit so that she could carry on the fight for the benefit of civilization, including the United States and so that the latter country could continue to profit by the sale of supplies at exorbitant prices.

Surely these debts were paid on the blood-stained fields by Flanders, France, Italy, Serbia, Rumania, Gallipoli, Palestine, Mesopotamia, and bloodied out by the tears of the widowed and orphaned survivors of the Pentecost of calamity!

Uncle Sam (who is known by an other name in Europe) says: "No! No! We want our pound of flesh and with interest." Great Britain has already paid to the United States the sum of $1,351,700,000, and today has just paid a further sum of $95,000,000 and of this latter sum a great part has been paid for interest charges. The United Kingdom and the other Allied debtor countries asked for a postponement of this last payment pending a discussion of a possible readjustment of the so-called debts and pointing out that by the terms of the Lausanne Conference they had done what they could for the hoped-for early return of world prosperity. Sir Josiah Stamp, financial adviser to the British Government, stated that if this last payment was made its effect would be detrimental to the interests of all countries, including the United States.

The refusal of the latter country to grant the extension asked, should arouse the rest of the civilized world to take up the matter of the war debts and financial matters for mutual protection against a common adversary to the world's economic recovery.

The policy of that country has been to collect as much of the world's supply of gold as possible by collection of so-called war debts and to use it in attacking the problem of solving the possibilities of a hand, creates a new situation. This type of policy is merely making a mockery of the reality of higher strategy. His unusual bidding technique quite frequently will either produce a large plus score for him, or a large minus score for him, and he will be left with a light from what they do today.

ASSESSMENTS ARE DISCUSSED

Real Estate Board Considers Matters of Pressing Importance to Property

The question of city assessments was considered by the Real Estate Board yesterday. During the discussion the city's case which had recently been before the court and which resulted in the upsetting of the city's assessment on St. Louis College was introduced. Opinions were expressed in favor of the decision and in opposition to it by individual members.

It was pointed out, however, that the court had expressed the opinion that it was bound by the statute in the matter, and that the decision given was one which it was hoped would be taken to appeal.

W. C. Warner, speaking as a lawyer, said that the whole question was one of interpretation as to what was meant in the statute by "actual value." In this connection he declared the highest authorities had interpreted it as the price at which a willing purchaser could be expected to pay to a willing vendor.

H. D. Patterson suggested referring the matter of the assessment troubles to the committee of the board to go into the subject with the city.

EXEMPTION TROUBLE

He alluded to the exemptions in the city which was the great trouble that had to be faced. There was more than $200,000.00 exempted—more than $200,000.00 in improvements. There was this lost tax to the amount of $270,000.00 on land and $350,000.00 on improvements. Mr. Patterson said that he felt that it might be possible to place before the Dominion and the Provincial governments this matter and have some kind of adjustment.

Fred Landsberg was of the opinion that if the court of revision were composed of three independent men, he would be better than a committee of members of the council.

A. R. Wolfenden rather agreed with him. He pointed out that a move in this direction made before had not got very far with the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

Major H. Cuthbert Holmes corrected an opinion with regard to interference with the assessors. He pointed out that no assessor was instructed as to his assessment. He contended that a wrong system existed in arriving at the assessment of property.

He intimated a property which gave 6 per cent on an investment of $100.00. The taxes were levied on the whole amount of the income without exempting the taxes that would be required. It should be the net income from the property that should be levied against, he thought.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

CREATING SITUATIONS
Most of us who play contract bridge find a great deal of satisfaction and ample enjoyment in bidding and playing a hand, but in assessing the values of distribution and honor tricks, and then playing to the best of our ability. There is, however, a type of play—play in attacking the problem of solving the possibilities of a hand, creates a new situation. This type of play is merely making a mockery of the reality of higher strategy. His unusual bidding technique quite frequently will either produce a large plus score for him, or a large minus score for him, and he will be left with a light from what they do today.

A moratorium for war debts, until conditions improve, is a payment, and an embargo on American products and manufactures declared by the debtor countries might result in a different look at conditions in a different light from what they do today.

ASK REDRESS IN BOULEVARD TAX

Real Estate Board Feels That Owners of Corner Lots Are Severely Dealt With

At the next meeting of the Real Estate Board definite action will be taken in seeking some redress for the owners of corner lots in the matter of the maintenance of boulevards. At the present time the owner has to pay at the per frontage rate covering the total length of his lines on the street.

In other services which the municipality provides there were equitable adjustments made, possible, said James Forman, in speaking to the subject at yesterday's meeting. Under the law as it existed at present, this could not be altered. He thought steps should be taken to bring about a change in the statute.

After discussion, it was decided to leave the matter over until the next meeting, notice of motion in this respect being offered by Mr. Forman.

Pioneer Recalls Pierce Storm of Nov. 18, 1896

W. E. Loefer Tells of Wintery Blanket Which Swept Over Victoria Overnight Thirty-Six Years Ago

Pioneers of Victoria, particularly those interested in weather conditions, day by day, will recall that yesterday was the thirty-sixth anniversary of one of the coldest storms which ever swept the city, freezing up homes and business houses over night after a mild season.

Attention to this anniversary was drawn last night by W. E. Loefer, who has resided in Victoria for the past forty years. On the night of November 18, 1896, Mr. Loefer recalled, Victorians had been enjoying a very mild season when a cold wind commenced blowing from the North shortly past midnight. As the night progressed it grew into a storm, and by morning had engulfed the city in a thick blanket of snow, and had frozen water pipes in practically every Victoria home. The cold spell lasted for two weeks, and on the coldest night, the thermometer registered zero.

Still earlier Mr. Loefer recollected Victoria's worst storm, the anniversary of which is on December 21. On this date in 1892 the city was also subjected to a fierce wintery blast, when the thermometer went down to three degrees below zero during the coldest period.

LONDON ARTISTS APPEAR IN PLAY

The Theatre Club Delights Audience in Initial Presentation Last Night

The Theatre Club made its bow last evening to Victoria lovers of the theatrical art in a production at Memorial Hall, given in aid of the Women's Workroom. Its initial presentation was the old English play, "If Four Walls Told," which had a very successful run in the Old Land, and which in the hands of the newly-organized company of Victoria, manifested that it still has a lot of charm for lovers of the stage.

At the head of the company appears Christopher Frere in the character of David Rysing, the crusty old grandfather who consulted the prayer book, but only to ascertain whether it was lawful for him to marry his granddaughter who had fallen heir to her father's fortune. Christopher Frere had ten years on the London stage and was a member of the original cast that produced this play there at the Royal Theatre. He had played on tour throughout England, Barbara Hall, now Mrs. S. W. Batten, has had seven years on the English stage. Last night was her first appearance in Canada. With her appeared her son, Gerry Batten, who is the third generation still on the stage, his grandmother, Dorothy Hall, being a well known character on the London stage.

OTHER PERFORMERS

Herbert E. Pott had a character adapted. This was well known to those who are to take districts in the canvass areas follow: A. Carmichael, R. K. Keane, J. French, James H. Fletcher; James H. Beatty, M.P.P.; H. Cuthbert, J. D. Patterson, H. M. Price, Lloyd Morgan, J. O. Cameron, A. S. Denny, J. W. Hudson, E. C. Hayward, W. H. Bland, W. A. Jameson, E. J. Martin, W. A. Charles, F. Earle, A. R. Wolfenden, H. B. Elworthy, S. J. Hall, C. F. Goodrich, J. N. Anderson, Hugh A. Leigh, J. Merse Hat, P. E. George, Louis Nelson, S. J. Drake, J. M. Wood, H. R. Savage, G. G. Mackenzie, James A. Griffith, George McGreor, William B. Wilson, W. A. Luney, A. J. Watson, Arthur Lee, W. F. Pinfold, F. C. Holden, Horace Plimley, J. H. Trace, William Moore and J. R. Angus.

The company has been formed of professional and advanced amateurs to produce a number of plays here. The initial production which is to be repeated in Memorial Hall tonight is a fitting medium as an introduction to the public. It abounds in comedy, keeps the audience in roars of laughter. An orchestra provided music with Mme. Bella Dobree at the piano, Dr. W. W. Bryce, violinist, and A. L. Hurling, cello. The business manager is H. V. S. Page, with Roy Goldfinch as stage manager.

City Solicitor H. S. Pringle was instructed by yesterday's meeting of the public works committee of the City Council to proceed with defence of an appeal against the assessment of the Grice estate, which is made up of two apartments, one situated on Vancouver Street and the other on Pembroke Street.

C. H. O'Halloran, counsel for the Grice estate, endeavored to reach a compromise at yesterday's meeting of the committee. His clients were prepared to accept an assessment of $10,000, he stated. This would be a reduction from the 1933 assessment.

George Okell, city assessor, stated that his assessment had been upheld by the Court of Revision after the property had been inspected, and he felt that if the compromise were accepted, it would be a sign of weakness on the part of the council. Alderman W. T. Strath said he had conferred with the agent for the mortgagees of the property and that the agent had informed him that the assessment was as fair as one as could be found in the city and that the investment was realizing between 8 and 9 per cent. Alderman Strath moved that the appeal be proceeded with. The case will be heard on Monday in the Supreme Court here.

Just Roamin' Around

BY TWO ROVERS

Verily, we have no great wish to be censorious, today, nor have we very much to complain of, but, on little things do make us hanker after some adjustment, or long for an improvement, but without much hope of the fruition of our heart's desire.

It is of pavements we would sing; or, to be more precise, it is of slanting pavements we would warble; and yet we are inclined to yell, since our singing, like our sidewalks, could be improved upon, and our warbling resembles no bird on earth. We must shriek to be heard above the dripping and noisy downpour, which makes us yearn for inclined planes where pavements are concerned, and for arcades where we would be shopping.

It is this way! We two old rovers just hate to go a-roamin' when it's wet under feet, because, while we do, at the moment, possess a pair of galoshes, they only cover and protect our pedal extremities for about two and a half inches up; whereas, as you, too, must be aware, there are holes, depressions, hollows, ditches, and bogs, deep—and deeper than that—in most of our city's cement sidewalks (called pavements where we came from), which catch, hold, store, retain, dam up and down, the waters that so deliberately descend from ashen skies on one of our recurring wet days.

SLANTING SIDEWALKS
We stride along in all innocence, or in haste, or both, and one moment we stub our toes on a mountain of hardpan, and the next we find ourselves wading ankle-deep in chilly and dirty rainwater. So, we would advocate tipped-up sidewalks, that would drain the flooded areas, swiftly and surely, to the gutters; or, we ask the authorities to provide us with individual suction or vacuum sweepers for us to carry and push ahead of us on days like the last two or three, when one's irascibility was so sore tried, and the wee puddle of damp days became oceanic highways, half-hidden by Autumn's rainways.

Ruling Is Given In County Court Jury Trial Here

The official award of the special jury, which, on Thursday, heard evidence in the case of Sidney Coxworth, contractor, versus Herbert Motterhead and Ella M. Beane before Judge Peter S. Langman in County Court here, was given out yesterday morning in a series of answers to questions submitted to the jurymen.

The action was one concerning payment for work of raising and leveling a home on Burnside Road, read a counter-claim for damages alleged to have resulted from the operations. The answers to the questions follow:

(1) Leveling of the back portion of the house was included in the contract.
(2) The plaintiff fulfilled the contract on the front portion of the house.
(3) The defendant is entitled to $25 to complete the back portion of the house.
(4) The damage done to the house amounts to $46.50.
(5) The plaintiff should pay for the above damage.
(6) We feel no amount should be deducted re footing under centre timber.
(7) W. T. Strath was counsel for the defendant, and Frank Higgins, K.C., acted for the plaintiff.

ISLAND FILMS SHOWN IN UTAH

After doing duty in advertising through Utah the attractions of Vancouver Island as a fishing centre, two motion picture reels, "Steelhead Fishing on Vancouver Island," have been returned to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. The films were loaned to Mrs. Mitchell Stewart, and later the Eastman Kodak Company borrowed them.

It is expected that as a result of the showing, a number will visit the island this coming year to enjoy the fishing here.

QUITTS SUPPORT OF RATEPAYERS

W. C. Warner Withdraws From Association With Campaign of E. B. Andros

W. C. Warner, who has been an active member of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, announced at the meeting of the Real Estate Board yesterday that he had that morning severed his connection with the former body. His action, he explained, was due to the attacks made by E. B. Andros upon the real estate body and upon the secretary of that organization.

The Ratepayers' Association had ended Mr. Andros' attack made by the latter upon the Real Estate Board was read and Mr. Warner said he had approached Mr. Andros and asked him to refrain from such attacks. Again, the night before, Mr. Andros repeated the attack and attacked the secretary of the board.

"I can no longer support such an organization," said Mr. Warner. He said he had that morning handed in his resignation as a member of the Ratepayers' Association.

Oil From Coal Has Been Commercially
Produced in JapanNaval Fuel Technicians Extract Ton of Heavy Oil
From Two Tons of Coal—Low Temperature Carbonization Process

Because Vancouver Island possesses large coal fields and the future prosperity of its communities will be more or less affected through any increase in development of the areas, what the Japanese are said to have accomplished in the matter of extracting oil from coal should be of interest.

South Manchuria Railway and naval officials have announced the complete success of experiments in the low temperature carbonization of Fushun coal, which they have been conducting for the past four years. The process has been perfected on a commercial scale to such an extent that one ton of heavy oil can be extracted from two tons of coal.

According to an official announcement by the railway company, most of the credit belongs to the Naval Fuel Works at Tokuyama, which undertook the experiments at the instance of the railway. Both the railway and naval experts expect the perfection of the process to revolutionize the fuel situation in Japan, for Fushun oil is exceedingly cheap to mine, since the open cut method is used and the carbonization process is inexpensive. Products so far are of fairly good quality and can be improved as time goes on. Moreover, cracking into gasoline at the same plant would be possible.

FIRST TO SUCCEED
"Low carbonization of coal," declares an official statement issued by the company, "has been tried on an industrial scale in many countries, but none so far have had notable success. Japan has been the first to succeed completely. We have the assurance that liquefied coal will be a paying proposition industrially. The naval experts deserve great credit. Their discoveries will bring about a revolution in fuel circles."

During 1927 and 1928, when prophets of disaster were predicting the end of world flush production of oil and the end of cheap petroleum, a good many companies were formed in England, the United States and Continental Europe for development of low temperature carbonization. Many of these had temporary success, but almost all went to the wall when the West Texas fields came in and deep drilling in Oklahoma tapped new and heretofore unsuspected reserves.

Until last summer oil prices fell steadily and there was no need for more expensive methods of obtaining the liquid, however efficient they might be. Elsewhere in the world experiments in low temperature carbonization were brought reluctantly to a close, but Japan, already committed for military reasons to the development of the oil shales refining industry at Fushun, continued to work on the problem. The reports of the railway and navy indicate that Japanese technicians have gone on from the point at which European and American scientists stopped and have developed the process in connection with what is probably the cheapest coal in the world. Fushun coal costs between 1.50 yen and 2 yen a ton at the pithead and would cost a good deal less if production were greater.

ASSISTANCE ASKED
Engineer Vice-Admiral Kotaro Mizutani, technical adviser to the South Manchuria Railway Company, made the following explanation of the railway's project:
"Back in 1928, Jotaro Yamamoto, then president of the railway, asked the naval authorities to help him in his plan to make oil out of coal. He wanted to undertake it in connection with the shale oil scheme, then just getting under way. Admiral Keisuke Okada, then Minister of the Navy, gave the railway president his whole-hearted support and the problem was turned over to the Naval Fuel Works at Tokuyama."

"As the result of a series of experiments, the authorities have succeeded in perfecting a commercial process which turns out one ton of heavy oil from two tons of Fushun coal. This can be used wherever ordinary oil of that quality is used and can be cracked up into gasoline. Thus the important problem of liquefying coal on an industrial basis has been developed by the naval authorities. Further researches will be made into the economic value of the main products and the by-products."

"This development will contribute to national defence and to Japanese industrial development. It may bring about a revolution in world oil circles."

SAILING FOR CHINA COASTEmpress Outbound—Emma

Ranger, Dinteldyk In

On her way to the Orient, the Canadian Pacific liner S.S. Empress of Japan, Captain L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., commander, is due along-side Rutherford Piers at 4 o'clock this afternoon. After embarking passengers who will join her for Honolulu and the Far East, and taking on last-minute mails and freight, the big ship will get away for the Hawaiian Islands about 6 o'clock.

Starting the new schedule of Pacific Steamship Lines to California ports, the liner S.S. Emma Alexander is due to arrive at Rutherford Piers about 10 o'clock tonight, and after embarking, Island and Mainland passengers proceeding South, will leave for San Francisco and Wilmington at midnight.

From the United Kingdom via Panama and California ports, the Furness motor vessel Pacific Ranger, Captain F. E. Leaman, tied up at Ogden Point Piers shortly before 11 o'clock last night, and will commence discharging general United Kingdom cargo this morning, prior to loading slightly more than 3,000 boxes of apples for the outward voyage.

Four passengers were aboard the Ranger when she arrived last evening, one for Victoria and three for Vancouver. The Victoria passenger was Mrs. S. W. Woollett, and the Vancouver passengers were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ford and Miss Ford.

DISAPPEARED
It was while the Ranger was on the Atlantic side of the Panama Canal, four days away, that Captain A. E. Bailey disappeared from the ship's bridge mysteriously. The chief officer had charge of the ship to Los Angeles, where Captain Leaman, of the Pacific Pioneer, was ordered to leave his ship and take charge of the Ranger for the voyage up the coast to Victoria.

With 150 tons of general cargo for the ports, Holland-America motor vessel Dinteldyk will be along-side Rutherford Piers early this morning. Completing here, the Dinteldyk will shift to Mainland ports.

From Port Alice and way ports on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, the S.S. Princess Maquina, of the B.C. Coast Service, arrived at the Belleville Stevedocks of the Canadian Pacific Steamships early yesterday afternoon.

MAKING FIRST FLIGHT TODAYNew Air Service Between Victoria and Vancouver to Be Inaugurated

Today the Wells Air Transport, Limited, of Vancouver, is inaugurating a once-a-day Victoria-Vancouver air service. The Fairchild "71" seaplane, with Pilot MacKenzie at the controls, will arrive at Esquimalt this morning shortly before 11 o'clock, when it will be met with a representative group of local citizens, including Mayor David Leeming, and R. H. B. Ker, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

It is the intention of the company to carry passengers and parcel express at lower rates than have yet been made available in Canada, comparable with the tariffs established on the large American airlines. In connection with the air express service for rush parcels, pick up and delivery at each end has been arranged to obviate any delay in delivery.

City Street
Names May Be Changed

Earmann Street and Wolsey Avenue will be wiped off the map of Victoria if an amendment to the city's streets by-law is passed.

Engineer F. M. Preston recommended to the public works committee of the council at its meeting yesterday that the name of Richmond Avenue be carried through to the waterfront.

The road now joins up with Earmann Street and Wolsey Avenue, which really were extensions of Richmond Avenue before the latter was completed.

The council instructed the solicitor to bring in the necessary amending by-law.

Planning to Provide Faster Travel Route
Across the AtlanticHalifax and Galway to Be Ocean Terminals if New Scheme to Link Canada and Europe
Meets With Approval

LONDON, Nov. 18 (CP)—Plans for a three-day route for passengers and mails between America and Europe have reached an advanced stage. Should the project that is now receiving the attention of the Governments of Ireland, Canada and Great Britain be successfully worked out, Halifax, N.S., will be the terminal point for America, and Galway, Ireland, for Europe.

Preparations are being made by several noted construction authorities and surveyors to submit definite plans of the scheme at an early date. They will involve the construction of an up-to-date harbor and airport just outside Galway, Ireland. Sir John Griffiths is preparing the plans for the harbor, which will be in Galway Bay, and Maxwell Aulton, eminent architect, is designing the airport.

It has been explained to the Canadian Press the scheme will require a system of fast steamers between Halifax and Galway, and at each of these points airplane services will be arranged serving the respective continents.
The Governments of Great Britain, Canada and Ireland are already dealing with the details of the project. Senator John Glendinning, controller of the Irish Transatlantic Corporation, the company which is responsible for the scheme, has declared the political aspect of the project is even more important than the financial, because it is essential to have the co-operation of the three Governments.

WAS HONORED
ABOARD SHIPCapt. Samuel Robinson Presented With Decoration
by Japanese Consul

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—Aboard the liner he commanded from her advent on the Pacific, in 1920, until his retirement last March, Captain Samuel Robinson, C.B.E., R.D., R.N.R., veteran of thirty-seven years' service with the Canadian Pacific Steamships, today was presented with his sixth decoration.

It was the Imperial Japanese medal of merit, conferred by the Emperor of Japan, in recognition of his services to the Japanese people during the Yokohama earthquake disaster in 1923.
More than 250 members of the foreign trade bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade and other leading citizens of the port, at a luncheon in the gold and green marble dining saloon of the Empress of Japan, cheered the stocky, broad-shouldered, little commander as Japanese Consul T. Hachiya read the warrant and pinned the red-ribboned medal on his chest.

Already a Commander of the British Empire by virtue of his Yokohama service, Captain Robinson holds, in addition to the new Japanese decoration, the Lloyd's silver medal, the life-saving medal of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem and the Spanish order of naval merit. King Prajadhipok of Siam conferred on him the Order of the White Elephant after he had brought the Royal party across the Pacific in the Empress of Japan, April, 1931, in the record-breaking time of seven days, twenty hours and sixteen minutes.

UPHELD TRADITIONS
"Captain Robinson's self-sacrificing heroism at Yokohama in 1923," said Consul Hachiya, "endowed him thereafter to the Japanese people as 'Robinson of the Australia.' His bravery and cool, efficient behaviour in an emergency," he stated, "filled the highest traditions of British seamanship and won for him and his company the undying respect and love of all Japan."
Captain Robinson, however, was his usual modest self as he replied to the words of the consul.
"Practically all of the credit," he said, "must go to the officers and men of the Empress of Australia."

A wagon prettily decorated with mauve and pink crepe paper, containing the many lovely gifts, was drawn into the room by Master Stanley Wilson, and placed before the bride-to-be. Many games, including bridge, were played during the evening, prize winners being: First, Mrs. W. Brynne and Mrs. S. Baker; second, Mrs. H. Wilkinson and Mrs. G. O. Hughes; and consolation, Mrs. T. Lyons. The rooms and also the supper table were prettily decorated with chrysanthemums in shades of mauve and pink. The guests included Mrs. J. Frith, Mrs. S. Baker, Mrs. G. O. Hughes, Mrs. W. E. Brynne, Mrs. S. Harris, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. A. Southall, Mrs. S. Jones, Mrs. H. Wilkinson, Mrs. P. Cross and Miss A. Wilkinson.

Entertains Bride-Elect

Miss Gladys Walker, a December bride-elect, was the guest of honor at a linen shower given by Mrs. F. L. Shaw and Mrs. Roy T. Pendray on Thursday evening at Mrs. Pendray's home on Pemberton Road. Little Patsy Pendray presented the many lovely gifts to Miss Walker in a carriage, which was prettily decorated with mauve and pink crepe paper. Refreshments were served from a table which was attractively carried out in the color scheme of mauve and pink, and lighted by tall tapers. A miniature bridal party completed this charming setting. The Misses Lorraine and "Billy" Pendray assisted the hostesses in serving. The guests were Mrs. W. H. Walker, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. W. L. Shaw, Miss James Doris Mason, and Miss A. Wilkinson.

What Today Means to YOU!
"MARRY" MARY BLAKE

If November 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a.m. to 7:45 a.m., from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. Influences operating on November 19 will be conducive to great business activity. Business agreements that will prove worth while financially can be made. Actions will be motivated on this day largely with an idea to attract attention rather than to secure any immediate material gain. Guard against those who would seek to use your name for purposes of publicity. The child born on this November 19 will appear to have more than the usual childish difficulty in distinguishing between right and wrong. It will not be a malicious or dishonest little one, but more often than not it will fail to use good judgment. It must be led to develop a better sense of values. Direct it with loving and kind advice. Born on November 19, you no doubt have great artistic aspirations. You would probably succeed as a writer or in any capacity where you could exercise freely your imagination. Your ability to use words and to blend them harmonize them nice would stand you in good stead also. Your constructive mind and shrewd powers of analysis would seem to point to a better than average career in the legal profession. Whatever your work, it must be of vital import and of great interest to you in order that you really apply to it your best efforts. Those born on November 19 are fundamentally honest. Sometimes, though, due to their great desire to line their pockets with gold, they are prone to disregard the dictates of conscience. Fortunately, they seldom wander from the straight and narrow. They are usually highly religious and usually spiritually minded. Often the women born on this date allow conflicting emotions to stir up petty warfare within themselves. They must learn to figure out their own problems by themselves and to be guided by their own ideals rather than by the advice of others. It's easy to see through people who make spectacles of themselves.

TELLS VALUE OF LATEST MACHINES

Frank Timmis is Guest Speaker at Credit Granters' Association Weekly Luncheon

The valuable work rendered by modern equipment in maintaining keep a set of books perfectly.

books of business houses was described by Frank Timmis, of the Burroughs Adding Machine Company, during an address given to members of the Credit Granters' Association of Victoria at their luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining-room yesterday.

Mr. Timmis outlined the latest developments in the production of these machines, explaining that a new electric typewriter was now on the market which could practically keep a set of books perfectly. He stressed the need for this equipment by business men in such days as these when trade was done largely by credit systems. Credit he said, and therefore entails considerable bookkeeping which is done most efficiently by these new inventions.

A report on the association membership was received from Charles Banner, chairman, who stated that these machines were now on a steady increase and it was hoped before long to have 100 members registered.

NEW COMEDY AT DOMINION TODAY

Jack Hulbert Stars in "Jack's the Boy," to Show Here for Three Days

Jack Hulbert is now definitely placed in the front rank of the world's comedians. His subtle sense of clowning, his fascinating, rhythmic dancing and jolly method of "putting over" a musical number are his artistic achievements essentially his own. When he is partnered by Cicely Courtneidge (his wife) there are no limits to their exquisite foolery. They are perfectly matched in "Jack's the Boy," the new Gaiety comedy to be shown at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow. They have abundant scope for their brilliant drolleries.

Jack Hulbert, as a tyro policeman, gives a wonderful performance—excellent when mixed up with traffic or crooks, and fascinating when making love and crooning a romantic song followed by some marvelous dancing. Cicely Courtneidge is great as the proprietress of a pseudo-Scottish cafe, with her delicious Cockney-cum-Scottish accent.

Make Thrilling Gorge Trip Daily

HOW would you like to take a breath-taking, thrilling trip across the Colorado River, five hundred feet below, every morning before work and every night before dinner? You'd probably call it a day's work in itself, but to the hardy workmen of the Hoover dam projects it's just "skipping across the river." Twenty men are carried on each end of this cable car or suspension bridge above the river. The "signalman" shown above in the near corner of the carrier controls the movements of the car by flag signals to the man on the watch tower, who in turn signals the movements of the car to the engineer, who cannot even see the carrier cable.

CHAPTER XXI

A man Judy had never seen before came looking for her, following

"Miss Allison?"

"Yes," Judy said.

"I'm John Flavin. The Beauty of the show is looking for you. Mr. Jenks, the client, wants to meet you. Wants you to come over to his office. I'll go along. He's so tickled about the show he's got a new idea of some kind. Can you get away

now?"

"But Judy had learned things, in her few days on the air. Learned that clients must not be told to wait. Learned that plans or engagements mean nothing at all, when the client speaks. 'Yes, of course, Mr. Flavin. Just a moment, though, I've got to leave a note.'

"He grinned. 'For Dick, eh?'

"Don't worry, Miss Allison. Everybody knows. Knows what? That Dick Mason looks at you through the glass, while you're watching the show from the gallery. That he has lunch with you each day in the drugstore downstairs! Day in the drugstore downstairs!

That he wants to see you before going in to set the programme every morning. Judy's cheeks burned.

Suddenly, she put her pencil back in her bag. 'Tell Mr. Mason I had to go over and see the client,' she said to a page boy, who grinned knowingly as he nodded. Then she said, 'I'm ready, Mr. Flavin. Shall we go?'

She said little as they rode across town to the big building on Michigan Avenue. The advertising man talked about programmes, about people. Names that would have thrilled Judy as much as a week ago. Names that meant nothing at all, now, but people who were not at all Olympian, people with problems and worries like her own. She answered, 'Yes, I hadn't heard.' And the advertising man, sensing her aloofness, nodded a little, remembering how she had

Charity Ball Held By St. Joseph's W.A. Is Brilliant Success

Junior Society Arranged Delightful Affair at Empress Hotel—Nearly Three Hundred Guests Attend—Proceeds for Auxiliary Fund

THE Charity Ball given last evening at the Empress Hotel by the Junior Woman's Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital proved an outstanding success, and the members of the auxiliary added fresh laurels to their reputation for well organized and delightful social affairs. Save for the large shield bearing the initials of the hospital, which had been placed at the back of the stage, and a profusion of red and white carnations and white chrysanthemums as decoration on the orchestra platform and supper tables, the ballroom had not been decorated, and the lovely colors of the gowns showed to excellent advantage.

A five-piece orchestra played an excellent programme of dance music, and the guests were seated at small tables, cabaret-fashion, leaving the centre of the ballroom free for dancing. The committee responsible for the success of the dance included Miss Betty O'Brien, the president; Miss Owen Dorman, Miss Norma Porter, Miss Florence Oates, the Misses Margaret and Rhoda Goward, Miss Mary Hunter, Miss Margaret Gallier and Miss Daphne Pooley. Mrs. W. Hobart Molson, the honorary president, and Captain Molson, were among the special guests.

Among those attending the dance were Commander and Mrs. V. G. Brodeur, Colonel and Mrs. H. T. Goodland, Major and Mrs. R. G. H. Murray, Major and Mrs. J. N. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. F. Denniston, Capt. and Mrs. H. W. N. Moorhouse, Mr. and Mrs. A. Crump, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Tyson, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Paterson, Capt. and Mrs. W. H. Molson, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Scharrf, Mrs. Matheson, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hazelwood, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Holmes, Misses Iris Wilcox, Sybil Jones, W. Dunbar.

The pulpit of the Fairfield United Church will be occupied next Sunday at both sessions by the minister, Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry. The morning topic at 11 o'clock is "Pushing the King's Business." Then the theme to be presented is that the world's present condition can not be mended until the King's business is made sure. The minister's talk to girls and boys will be on "The Abolition of Slavery." Ivan Green will sing "The Lord Is My Light," and he and Paul Green will give as a duet, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" (Hawley).

The lesson-lesson will also include the following passages from page 426: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; "Consciousness constructs a better body when the mind is right," has been conquered. He will be co-operating with the team that has just arrived at Montreal on a tour of this continent.

Local Bishop on Speaking Tour in East

A SIGNAL honor has been given Rt. Rev. Gerald Murray, Bishop of Victoria, in being chosen as special preacher for the celebration throughout Canada of the bi-centenary of the founding of the Redemptorist order. Bishop Murray, previous to his coming to Victoria, was the head of this organization in Canada as the Provincial Superior of the Redemptorist Congregation. His Excellency (right) preached in Vancouver on his way to Toronto, where he conducted a triduum or three days' celebration beginning November 13, preaching morning and evening daily at St. Patrick's Church. Rt. Rev. Patrick Ryan, D.D., Bishop of Pembroke (left), and Rt. Rev. Neil McNeill, D.D., Archbishop of Toronto (centre), were celebrants on Tuesday. Bishop Murray is scheduled to hold similar services in Montreal and Quebec. The Redemptorist Congregation was founded at Naples in 1732 by St. Alphonsus Liguori. Its members conduct preaching and educate the young.

Meetings May Restore Peace in Birmingham

"Will Peace Be Restored in Birmingham?" is the arresting heading with which The Church of England newspaper introduces its account of the recent meetings held by Bishop Linton, of Perth, and members of the Oxford Group Movement in the parish church of Birmingham recently. It further speaks of the "miracle of Bishop Linton's visit."

The background of the story is the much-advertised conflict that has been carried on for some time between Dr. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, and some of the Anglo-Catholic clergy of his diocese. Into this area of disturbance came Bishop Linton, who has been conducting throughout England missions of witness, for the deepening of the religious life. Intense interest was developed in the course of a few days.

MANY PEOPLES MEET AT HOLY COMMUNION

"Under the shady trees, where we had spent so many days together, stood the table covered with a white cloth for the celebration of Holy Communion," opens the description of a striking exhibition of fellowship which took place at the recent Y.M.C.A. conference on secondary schools at Dassel, Central Germany. For the observance of the Holy Communion, the delegates gathered together, sons of one Father, citizens of one Kingdom, inheritors of one hope. By the German stood an Indian, next to him an Egyptian, then an Estonian, then a Frenchman. The pastor at the communion table was Japanese.

Rev. Samuel Chadwick, the large-hearted and greatly beloved veteran of English Wesleyanism, died last month at Central Mission, and had been principal for a quarter of a century. He was famed for his evangelistic work in connection with the Oxford Group Movement, and shared pre-eminence in the Methodist imagination with Dr. Dinwiddie. Young and Gypsy Smith. The acting-principal, Rev. Broadbent, gives his farewell message to his colleagues thus: "Marshall the forces of prayer; stand true to the word of God; have reached the Cross; I have loved Christ by His grace and mercy; I am ready for the roll-call in the morning."

Binding of Satan Will Be Subject

Pastor N. C. Erickson, of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, will speak at the A.O.F. Hall on Sunday at 7:30 o'clock on the interesting and timely subject, "Satan Bound 1,000 Years. Will It Be a Happy Time?" This subject will be discussed in the light of the prevalent crime and misery.

The speaker invites people to bring their Bible questions and he will endeavor to answer them. Questions to be answered tomorrow night as follows: Where is hell located? How long will it burn? How many years between the two resurrections?

DRAW ANNOUNCED FOR GARRISON BADMINTON MEET

Bud Hocking Will Meet Noel Radford In Feature Match

Ranking Stars to Clash in Men's Singles Tussle in Opening Rounds of Annual Shuttlecock Tourney at Armories—Complete List of Fixtures Released—Keen Competition Expected

Shuttlecocks will be sent flying over the courts at the Armories this afternoon and evening when the initial rounds of the annual Victoria Garrison Badminton Club tournament gets under way. Play will open in the handicap mixed and women's doubles at 3 o'clock and will continue throughout the afternoon, with the final fixtures carded at 6 o'clock. Draw and starting times were announced yesterday by Hugo Raymond, chairman of the tournament committee.

Today's matches will be featured

HUGO RAYMOND, hard-working chairman of the Victoria Garrison Badminton Club tournament, which will commence at the Armories this afternoon. Raymond released the men's final list yesterday.

by a men's singles match between Noel Radford, seeded No. 2, and who was runner-up for the Canadian title a few seasons ago to Jack Purcell, and Rose "Bud" Hocking. This fixture is set for 6 o'clock and great interest has been aroused over the outcome. Due to Radford's experience in major tourneys, he will be a slight favorite to emerge victorious. At that he will have to be at top form, as Hocking is reported to be playing the best badminton of his career. In another open singles tilt, Major Dobbie will face Don Campbell at 4:45 o'clock, while Miss I. Wilcox will take the court against Miss K. Hall in the only women's singles match on the programme.

Major Dobbie and Major Gibson will meet Drennan Hincks, defending singles champion, and "Bud" Hocking in the men's open doubles. The latter pair are favorites to win. Hincks has been seeded No. 1 in the men's singles due to his fine victory last year and also his sweeping march to the city championship.

Word was made known yesterday that Miss Mona Miller will not defend her singles title. She will play in the women's and mixed doubles. Due to this announcement, Miss Florence Oates has been seeded No. 1 and Miss Doreen Swayne has been given second rating. Hincks and Hocking are favored in the men's doubles, while Raymond and Campbell are seeded No. 2. Misses Florence Oates and Doreen Swayne are placed first in the women's doubles and Miss Mona Miller and Miss Helen Nicholson are ranked second.

The team of Miss Miller and Hincks are placed in first position in the mixed competition, while Raymond and Miss Oates are second, with Hocking and Miss Nicholson ranked third. Just how these ratings will turn out remains to be seen, as uprisals always creep into any tournament play.

Play will continue on Monday evening and throughout next week, with the finals carded for Wednesday, November 30. The champions will receive their trophies the same evening and a dance and social will write finish to the annual classic.

GARDINER WINS FROM BRENTENA

Chicagoan Unable to Continue in Fifth; Asby Takes Two Straight From Wellens

Joe Gardiner, San Francisco, won the main event at the Pacific Stadium last night when "Bull" Brentena, Chicago, flew through the ropes in attempting a flying head scissors in the sixth round and was unable to continue. Gardiner took the first fall early in the first round and Brentena ended it up in the third. In the semi-final, "Spike" Asby, Denver, took two straight falls from George Wellens, Calgary. Bruce Lowe took two out of three falls to defeat Lloyd Fenlon in the preliminary. Lowe had a big advantage in weight.

The main event provided plenty of action for the fans, right from the start. Gardiner opened up with a series of flying headlocks that had the "Bull" dizzy and sat on him for a brief period to take the first fall in under half a minute of the first round. He tried the same tactics at the start of the second, but Brentena was ready and got his man a crotch. The remainder of the round was even. In the third round Brentena started up with a series of reverse headlocks, threw in a shoulder butts and pinned Gardiner with a head scissors to take the tying fall. The "Bull" had the better of the next round and had his opponent dizzy with flying wrist locks at the bell.

BRENTENA GOES OUT

Early in the fifth round Brentena again had Gardiner groggy and backed up against the ropes when, in trying a flying head scissors, he missed and fell on his head outside the ring. Gardiner was awarded the bout when Brentena was unable to continue.

In the semi-final, Wellens put up a good exhibition in the first round, easily having the advantage over Asby. In the second round, "Spike" came out with a series of jabbing punches and knocked the Calgary boy groggy, taking the fall with a press. He used the same method in the next round and easily took the winning fall. Wellens had just recovered from an attack of flu and wrestled last night to take the place of Novak, who was injured in a motor accident.

In the preliminary, Bruce Lowe used his weight to advantage to take two out of three falls from Lloyd Fenlon.

To Face Tin Kit Tonight

DES Anderson, idol of Seattle fans, and popular with hundreds of Victorians, who will appear on Promoter Fred Richardson's wrestling card tonight at the Tillamook Gymnasium against Leung Tin Kit, the sensational Chinese grappler, in one of the two main event bouts. The mix is creating plenty of interest and a big turnout is expected. In the other half of the card, Bobby Byland, Minneapolis, will tackle Al Niles, Bremerton, a newcomer to these parts. The preliminary will bring together Vic Politano and Jim McPherson, local lads, over the four-round route at 8:45 o'clock.

Dutton Nursing Broken Thumb; Gets Into Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (CP).—Red Dutton, fiery defenceman of the New York Americans of the National Hockey League, is nursing a broken thumb.

The injury occurred in an exhibition game with Buffalo, of the International League, but not until the Americans met the Detroit Redwings last Tuesday did it become definitely established the injury was a fracture.

Red stayed out of that game but before last night's game with Boston Bruins he had a plaster cast made and went into action against the bean-eaters despite protests from Coach Joe Simpson and the other players.

It is expected he will be able to remove the cast in about three weeks.

Thousand Trees Will Be Planted At Uplands Club

THE appearance of the Uplands golf course will be improved in the future, thanks to the Provincial forestry department. A thousand trees, consisting of evergreens, such as spruce, fir, cedar, etc., have been received by the club and will be planted at different spots on the course to relieve the monotony of an unbroken skyline. The trees came from the Green Timbers Nursery at New Westminster.

REG NOBLE JOINS TEAM

Holdout of Many Weeks Comes to Terms With Detroit Club

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 (CP).—After a conference with Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, Reg Noble, veteran Detroit Red Wing defenceman, signed yesterday to play for the Wings.

Noble was a holdout for many weeks and the matter was referred to the league president for action after Noble and the Detroit club had been unable to come to terms.

Jack Adams, Detroit manager, said tonight he made an offer to Windsor Bulldogs of the International League for the services of Earle and Desse Roche, both forwards. He has received no answer from Windsor, he said.

Noble was expected to be with Red Wings for their next league engagement.
